BROTHER KILLS BROTHER IN PLEASANT VALLEY

Meager news reached the county attorney's office this morning that Carroll Willbanks had been shot and killed by his brother, William Willbanks. The tragedy occurred on Spring Creek, west of Pleasant Valley, and is said to have resulted from an argument over a cattle deal. The coroner from the north end of the county went out to Spring Creek early today to investigate the killing. Assistant County Attorney John Dougherty left Globe this morning for the scene of the tragedy and will arrive on Spring Creek this evening.

The news came by telephone this morning and few details were obtainable except the general statement that the trouble arose over cattle. It is said here by old time offices of Gila county that there has been blood between these two brothers for several years, and it is further said that some four or five years ago Carroll Willbanks shot at his brother William several times with a Winchester in an argument over cattle, and that William was wounded at that time.

Carroll is probably the largest owner of cattle in the north end of the county and he and his brother have resided in the Pleasant Valley country for 18 or 20 years, coming originally from Texas.

The dead man, Carroll Willbanks, is probably best known by the name of Andy Long, which name he is said to have borne when he first came from Texas, and later he was known as Andy Willbanks.

It may be a day or two before details of the quarrel and killing come out of the remote cattle country. Pleasant Valley is some miles north of Roosevelt Lake and news will likely first come that way.

Those in Globe who know the two brothers are authority for the statement that Carroll Willbanks has assisted his brother William in starting in business several times, but that William is not very well balanced mentally and has never made a success in business. In fact, some of his movements are said to resemble those of an insane person. — Miami Silver Belt.

HAL BEDINGER DIES AT PRESCOTT LAST MONDAY

But a few months ago Hal Bedinger was a frequent, welcome visitor in the business houses of Kingman, making his rounds on the delivery wagon of the American Railway Express. Now he has passed the portals from this life to the next and he is and will be greatly missed. Hal died Monday and was laid to rest in Prescott Wednesday afternoon.

Among all living things, Jumbo, his horse, will probably miss him most—especially when the heat and flies get bad. For Jumbo without doubt remembers, if horses remember, how his master used to care for him on these occasions. And that but typifies the soul of the man, for Hal was that way to everyone—always willing to do a favor, kind and considerate always.

Hal started to fail just five months ago and the end came fast.

He is survived by a brother, Dr. George Bedinger, of Flagstaff, and a brother and sister in the east. — Kingman Miner.

MRS. E. W. WELLS DIES

Death called Mrs. E. W. Wells this morning at 9 o'clock, stilling a life that has been marked by long and useful service to the community. Mrs. Wells was the wife of Judge E. W. Wells, president of the Bank of Arizona, and who is well known throughout the southwest.

Mrs. Wells, then Rose Banghart, came to Yavapai county with her father, George Banghart, in 1868, and they settled in Chino valley, among the first white settlers in the state. She was married in 1869 to Judge Wells. — Prescott Courier.

The church has decided to call a minister for full time preaching who will be on the ground as early as it can be arranged.

SAVED BY INFLUENCE

Yesterday afternoon as Louis Kelly was coming around the corner of Le-roux and Railroad with the city fire truck on his way to a no-account blaze out beyond the Flagstaff Lumber company mill, Evangelist Adams, with Mr. Simmons, the soloist, in his Studebaker, ran into the side of the truck, their car being turned completely around by the truck, which kept on its way. Nothing but a bent fender, though the cars came together viciously, and the evangelist imputes this good fortune to his fair-to-middling standing in a higher court. The fire was in a bunch of brush.

BELLEMONT SCHOOL CLOSES A MOST SUCCESSFUL TERM

She agreed not to resign. A movement is on foot to have Miss Johnson appointed as nurse over the Normal and parochial schools also.

BILLY MULLEN SAYS WOULD AS LIEF BE SHERIFF AS NOT

Wm. J. (Billy) Mullen comes out in this issue of The Sun with an announcement of his candidacy for county sheriff, subject to the action of the democratic primaries in September.

It is a waste of time and space to attempt to introduce Mr. Mullen to the voters of this county, for he is known to practically all of them. He has lived here for twelve years, during which he has been doing general building contract work. For two years before coming here he was with the Phoenix Construction company, which he went to work for right after he came from his native state, Iowa. He hesitated for some time about asking for the office, but finally yielded to the importunities of his friends. Besides his natural industry and ability he has had some experience at the sheriffing game, having been deputy for a time under former Sheriff Jack Harrington.
